FOLLOW US TO SEE WHAT'S HAPPENING ON THE HILL!

Dear Spellman Community,

The Hula Hoop, the microchip, NASA and Cardinal Spellman High School, not a group that one would think naturally finds themselves together, yet they all have one thing in common; they all began their journey in 1958! Sixty years ago each of these historical treasures jumped onto the scene, and today each remain an integral part of the human experience in America for different reasons but bound together by the same visionary spirit.

Sixty years ago, while Americans tuned into Jack Benny or The Ed Sullivan Show at night and Vertigo and The Bridge On the River Kwai reigned at the box office, John XXIII entered the papacy, and the four institutions mentioned above began to remind us of four important things; first, to follow God, second, to shoot for the stars, third, while remembering that big things can come in small packages, and finally that practice makes perfect!

I believe Spellman truly digested these important lessons and made them part of its enduring culture, it could not help but do so being born at such an intersection of time. Today we are reminded of this in so many ways at Spellman as we enter another decade of excellence in Catholic education. First with every document we sign and with every mission trip we attend, (this year three of them), with every Mass we celebrate and with every prayer we say we always… "Sequere Deum" …follow God, he is the reason Spellman exists!

Next, with our ever-expanding curriculum and athletic offerings, our commitment to be at the cutting edge of technological upgrades, we are reminded to always shoot for the stars. We have not wavered in this commitment with the creation of our strategic plan 2017-2022 and the addition of new courses this year and facilities upgrades to support the Spellman student experience.

It is also inherent to the Judeo-Christian experience to believe that big things come in small packages. From, David and Goliath to the babe in the manger it is in our collective DNA. This year at Spellman we are especially reminded of that as we launch our inaugural year of exploratory Seminars. Classes that meet in smaller increments for big impact! These are going to be great opportunities to maximize our students' ability and tap into their natural interests via the elective process. Indeed big things do come in small packages.

Finally one of the most critical things we can teach our students is the art and skill of learning from our failures, failing fast, and rising stronger than before, all while recognizing that these are some of the best times of their young lives. No childhood toy has presented us with a greater opportunity for learning through failure, while having a blast (perhaps save the Rubiks Cube) than the Hula Hoop. The fact that our students learn to fail in a safe environment and to learn and grow from that failure as part of the path to success bears some resemblance to our birthday sharing hoop shaped piece of Americana.

In this our 60th year of educating the best and brightest on the south shore we remember where we have been, how we got here, and we look forward to a future we are well prepared for! We especially invite all of you our distinguished alumni to be part of this 60th anniversary year, by participating in one or more of our many celebratory events throughout the year. So, happy birthday, NASA, happy birthday Hula Hoop, happy birthday microchip and most important of all, happy birthday Cardinal Spellman, 60 never looked so good!

Sequere Deum,

Dan Hodes

President

Dear Members of the Spellman Community,

As we approach our sixtieth anniversary, Cardinal Spellman High School remains committed to lifelong learning and providing a faith-based education to a student population that now draws from forty cities and towns.

This year, I conclude my 12-year tenure as a member of the Board of Trustees, serving as the Board Chair for the past 5 years. We have continued to build on the foundation of a Catholic education established by the Sisters of St. Joseph. I am proud of what we have accomplished to maintain our status as the independent Catholic co-educational, college preparatory high school serving communities in southeastern Massachusetts. It is important to acknowledge our achievements because they provide the basis and the springboard for the coming years.

We have updated the infrastructure of our state-of-the-art teaching and learning systems with the 1:1 iPad program, the creation of new science labs and the Library Learning Commons. We have expanded the integration of the curriculum and continue to train our faculty and staff to support these more interactive instructional methods. Our student experience has also been enhanced with the remodeled dining hall and the creation of the fitness center.

We owe it to the current and future student populations to provide programs and facilities that offer a competitive 21st-century academic and faith-based education by investing in Spellman.

The 2017-2022 Strategic Plan provides the framework to accomplish our future goals. Following the Board and Administration's study of our current facilities and program offerings, our priorities are to update and improve our athletic fields, the auditorium, and infrastructure. Equally as important, we remain committed to making Spellman accessible to students from all the communities we serve. I believe that the changes and investments we have made and the Strategic Plan that we have in place will serve the students and families for generations to come.

It has been my honor and privilege to serve as a member of the Board. Spellman has successfully achieved 60 years of providing a college preparatory high school experience with excellent educational opportunities based in Catholic traditions. It is now time for each of us to do what we can to invest in the future of Spellman. I thank you for all that you have and continue to do to enable us to carry out our mission.

Wishing you and your families the very best and as always, Sequere Deum!

For the Board of Trustees,

Geradine A. Mahoney

Commencement 2018

The 166 graduates flipped their tassels at the 57th annual commencement of Cardinal Spellman High School's Potvin Field.

The Cardinal Spellman High School Class of 2018 is a mosaic, class president Joseph P. Kelly told his classmates Thursday. He said a mosaic is a puzzle with little pieces coming together for one singular image, so it is the perfect symbol for the graduating class.

"Our class as a whole has come together so cohesively to create one extraordinary group of people," he said. "We are so lucky to have fit so well with each other to create such a beautiful picture of mosaic."

The 166 graduates had gathered at Potvin Field for the 57th annual commencement of Cardinal Spellman High School.

Principal Paul Kelly encouraged the graduates to "wear their pride on their sleeves" by bringing their Spellman T-shirts into the next chapter of their lives to publicly express the Spellman story.

"If someone questions you with a strange expression saying, what the heck is 'God Squad' or who are the 'Cardinal Crazies,' take a minute to tell them about your unique Spellman experience," he said. "After all, high school is four years, but Spellman is for life."

Salutatorian Margaret Dockrey spoke about the individuality that goes into each person's decision-making process. She said making decisions is both the best and worst part of being human and each of the graduates made a good decision to attend Spellman.

"My hope is that each decision that you are faced with, either negative or positive, will lead you to see how incredible you can become," she said.

Dockrey then introduced the class valedictorian and her best friend, Alyssa Grzybinski, who offered some advice to her fellow graduates.

"Have faith in God. Never sell yourself short and always give thanks where it is due," Grzybinski said.

President Daniel Hodes brought Deacon Joseph T. Nickley to the stage to do an experiment with the graduates.

Nickley asked the crowd to "offer one another a sign of peace." The graduates responded with rounds of hugs with one another.

Congratulations to JOSEPH KELLY '18, who has been accepted to Harvard University's Class of 2023!

"My years at Spellman have completely shaped me into the person I am today. This school gave me the skills that will help me in my upcoming gap year as well as the following years at Harvard. The rigor of many of my courses here helped me develop a hardworking academic persona. The diverse range of extra-curricular activities helped me to become comfortable with stepping out of my comfort zone. The service opportunities have really shaped my desire to serve. I hope to continue my service in the future inspired by the many service leaders at Spellman, specifically Ms. Q and Mr. Deramo. Through the encouraging atmosphere at Spellman, I was pushed to take risks that I would have otherwise dodged. A particular note of gratitude to Ms. Miller who urged me to believe in myself and to apply to Harvard in the first place."

THE GOLD STANDARD

NEASC PROCESS - Paul Kelly

What it's all about... Where we are... Where we are going!

Authentic reflection can lead to growth. Accountability ensures high standards. Celebration promotes joy and goodwill. Every ten years, academic institutions seeking accreditation are required to participate in a comprehensive school evaluation process, which leads to the stamp of approval that the school is fulfilling its mission to provide a top-quality educational experience for its students and constituents. Cardinal Spellman High School, along with all the other accredited schools throughout the Archdiocese, participates in this process through an organization called, NEASC, The New England Association for Schools and Colleges.

> A globally recognized standard of excellence, NEASC Accreditation attests to a school's high quality and integrity.

A globally recognized standard of excellence, NEASC Accreditation attests to a school's high quality and integrity. The award of Accreditation by NEASC indicates that an educational institution has conducted a rigorous, comprehensive self-assessment of its learning community as a whole and has hosted a Visiting Team of peer reviewers to evaluate and validate its alignment with the Standards for Accreditation in terms of its own stated educational goals. The NEASC Accreditation process encourages school improvement and transformation through continuous self-reflection and future planning.

Spellman is in the very midst of this process, which takes about two focused years to complete. The entire past year has been spent reviewing, evaluating, surveying and highlighting the areas of strength and potential growth in 14 different aspects of school life (called Standards) ranging from Student Experience and Academic and Extra-Curricular Programming to Enrollment, Governance and Health and Safety, to name a few. In preparation for the self-evaluation, we have been gathering relevant information through the parent, student, teacher and alumni surveys, strategic planning, interviewing and collecting data from A to Z. Every member of the faculty and staff is part of at least one committee, which has methodically and thoughtfully unpacked their "Standard"; assessing Spellman's effectiveness in that given area and providing recommendations to ways to improve. Mrs. Susan Davis has taken on the Herculean role of overseeing and chairing the entire process and has done an exceptional job keeping everyone on track.

Next year's major tasks will focus on gathering more feedback, re-writing, and editing, organizing supplemental materials and supporting documentation and tying up loose ends. Ultimately, Spellman will host a NEASC Visiting Team of about eight professional educators, who will spend three days in April on campus reviewing the report, interviewing students, teachers, parents, administrators and Board members and observing "Spellman in action!" During the visit, we will celebrate our successes and fully articulate our goals, hopes, and dreams for the future of Spellman. At its completion, the Visiting Team will provide a comprehensive summary of their visit, noting their many observations and articulating their recommendations.

In the end, this is a process of self-reflection and accountability which will provide us with a concrete road-map for future success as we strive to excel for the next ten years and well beyond.

THEATRE RECAP

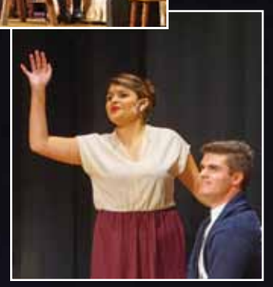
by Paul Kelly



Seniors Morghan Smith and Michael Gorman with an electrifying performance in "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

The 2017-2018 Music and Theatre Program was stronger than ever and was highlighted by some stellar performances and productions including the student-directed production of "The Man Who Came To Dinner" directed by Amanda Barry '18 and Claire Noonan '18, our delightful annual holiday show, "We Need A Little Christmas", directed by Dorrie Bessette, '69 and a spirited, show-stopping version of the Andrew Lloyd Webber's beloved musical, "Joseph & the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat" in the Spring, directed by Principal Paul Kelly and his wife, Marybeth and produced by Mr. Dan Higgins '10. Each performance enjoyed a sell-out crowd and spontaneous standing ovations.

On Holy Thursday, members of the Senior class, under the inspired guidance of Ms. Joanie Querzoli, shared a poignant and emotional reenactment of our Lord's Passion, through symbolic music, dance and drama. The audience was brought to tears and exited the theatre in awe-struck silence.

The year concluded with our second annual ARTS NIGHT, an evening featuring the many aspects of our Performing Arts Program at Spellman. The evening began in the auditorium featuring two clever, student-written and directed vignettes, followed by a vibrant medley of Spellman's Gospel-choir "greatest hits". The audience was then directed to stroll through the halls to be entertained by several student musicians, Pat Collins '19 and Dan Cashin '19 on guitar and Mary Kelly '21 on violin, and then dropping into in the chapel to view a display of our TAG Ministry's spiritual, inspiring artwork. The last stop of the night landed the audience in the LLC for an exhibition of extensive artwork by Mr. Lynott's talented students and a lively and impressive concert of A Cappella songs performed by our own Symphonium. It was a grand night to celebrate the arts and showcase our incredibly talented students!

Looking back, it is clear that the Arts are alive and well at Spellman and that our tradition of excellence which began many years ago under the charismatic leadership of Mr. Bob McEwan, will continue to light up the Spellman stage for years to come!

The Marble Moment

One teacher's tangible legacy

By Shay Sinnott/Susan Davis

Forty-one years of high expectations, rigorous work assignments, interactive lessons, and meaningful discussions have created several generations of driven and successful Spellman alumni. Forty-one years of digging deeper, thinking outside of the box, and pushing the limit has cultivated a desire for learning, a passion for reading, and a love of writing for countless students.

Ms. Patrica Marble's English classes at Cardinal Spellman have inspired students to attend colleges they hadn't dreamed possible, to pursue careers unthought of, and to always remember what they have learned in her classroom.

Marble, as most of us affectionately call her, was way ahead of the curve when it came to innovative teaching methods. Before the catchphrases "student-centered learning" or "cooperative learning" became the buzzwords of education, she was challenging her students to own their own learning, setting them on a quest to discover, in their own way, the meaning of a particular piece of literature and how it applies to today's world - to their world. She has been the "YODA" of Spellman, posing questions and waiting to see how her students will justify their answers using the skills that they had learned from her. Having been a student in her class, we walked away with not mere facts but the ability to analyze any piece of writing presented to them. Her students gained confidence, structure, and skills that they would use in college and into their futures. Not accepting the easy answer, she pushed them to dig deeper, to really get to the heart of the material knowing this was sound practice to prepare them for whatever path they followed in life.

As Ms. Marble approached her final days of teaching at Cardinal Spellman this May, she shared a special gift with her AP Literature classes-The Marble Moment.

As tradition holds, Ms. Marble presented each student with a keepsake, a marble. For the past 35+ years, Ms. Marble has used this gift as a tangible reminder to each of her graduating students to remember everything they learned in her classroom and during their time at Spellman.

After sharing this story on Facebook in May, hundreds of alumni came forth to express their gratitude and appreciation for the lessons they learned from Ms. Marble. Many recalled receiving their marble many years ago, and some still cherish it to this day. No one can explain the impact this phenomenal, tell-it-like-it-is, give-it-your-best teacher has had on Cardinal Spellman better than our appreciative alumni, and with that said, we would like to share with you just some of the incredible tributes to Pat Marble our Spellman Family shared on Facebook.

"It becomes your dream. It's symbolic. It's concrete. So that, especially after leaving here and flying away, as you start a new path for next year, you have dreams, you have an idea of where you want to go, how you want to get there, and what it's going to be like. I think the hardest part of your college career will be your first semester. Getting used to new people, new teachers, new classes, new rules, new everything. So sometimes the dream gets lost. But this (if you don't break it or lose it today)...this you can hold in your hand and say the dream is still there. And so maybe, this is a reminder of making that dream come true...

...When you get out there, be impeccable with your work. Be a person with integrity. You're not bending yourself in order to fit in. Be yourself."

~ Ms. Pat Marble

"Two roads diverged in a wood, and I -
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference."

Robert Frost's poem The Road Not Taken

"Marble opened up new possibilities, new horizons for her students to explore. And this is true for me as well. Meeting Marble 39 years ago when I was a very inexperienced brand-new teacher, she challenged me each and every day to become a better teacher - a better person. For me, and so many others, having known Pat as a teacher, mentor, and friend 'has made all the difference.' " - Mrs. Susan Davis

Congratulations, Ms. Marble, on forty-one years of making a difference every single day in the lives of every student, colleague, and friend who you met along the way at Cardinal Spellman. You will be truly missed, but your legacy will never be forgotten. We wish you the best of luck in your retirement!

Jeannie Jones-Tatro Congratulations Pat Marble - i know i loved your classes and am ever grateful for all you taught me. Future students have no idea what they will be missing with you not there! Thank you for my love of reading and for challenging me to push harder

Joe Lyons If there was 1 teacher in my high school and college years that left an impression on me, it was Ms. Marble. She motivated me to think differently and to never hold back creativity. I can't imagine the huge number of other young minds that she influenced over the years, but I do know that we are all better as a result.
"Thanks for the Marble Ms. Marble" (actual quote from my Spellman yearbook blurb)

Christelle Obas 'Oh captain, my captain!' Thank you for teaching me about some amazing pieces of literature such as The Scarlett Letter and To Kill A Mockingbird and movies, especially Dead Poets Society and The Crucible which I always watch whenever it plays on TV! Thank you for teaching us how to use Microsoft Office and using our imaginations by creating our own restaurants in Mod D Electronic Writer in 2003! And of course the KISS method! Julie Sullivan Ms Marble! Thanks for being the best teacher I've ever had. The way you taught me to interpret literature and the world around me (and to cite 3 sources to back up any opinion I may have) has served me in more ways than I can count, both personally and professionally. Enjoy your well deserved retirement! 😎

Sara Comeau Hands-down my favorite, most influential teacher—go ahead, Pat Marble, roll your eyes! Congratulations! You deserve all of the accolades and I can only hope you enjoy retirement even more than you've enjoyed the years of picking and filling brains—if that's somehow possible 😜❤️

Sarah Nessralla Ms. Marble was the single most influential teacher I've ever had the pleasure of learning from. Her classes transcended basic writing and reading training and instead focused on critical thought and self discovery through literature and written expression. I will never forget what I learned from Ms. Marble. Thank you for teaching me how to mold my mind and question everything. I'll never know another educator like you!

Gregg Pats Ms. Marble was not a text book teacher because she could have written the text book. What an amazing person who challenged you to write and support your work and participate in the classroom. Thank you for 41 years of improving the academic experience at Spellman. Enjoy your time!!

Judi Comeau Marble was the teacher you always wanted to impress. I remember being so frustrated when I'd get assignments handed back to me covered in red marks, but it made receiving positive feedback all the more gratifying.
I also specifically remember her saying that one of her favorite questions to ask people is, "What are you reading right now?" because apparently that said all she needed to know about the person. Needless to say, I've been slightly worried I might run into her ever since (I'm crushing Pride & Prejudice for about the 100th time right now.)

Rafael Romano Díaz The thing I remember most about Ms. Marble is that she made me feel that every word and thought I had was important. Not just something needed to finish a homework assignment. Which in turn made me feel important. Not just some nerdy looking skinny kid who sat quietley in the back trying not to get any attention drawn to him.
Congratulations on your retirement Pat and most of all thanks for having such a big role in shaping the person I am today. God Bless.

Lisa Rapisarda MARBLE- Words don't do justice expressing the impact You had on me. You gave me confidence and inspired me to be myself; two things that don't always come easy to teenage girls. To be not just an individual, but a good one. I have always kept in my mind something you said in class one day. I don't know why but it resonated with me and has always guided me to try to speak up or defend others in particular situations.
Might not be the exact one but same concept: "The world is a dangerous place, not because of those who do evil, but because of those who look on and do nothing." -Albert Einstein. A lesson I will always carry with me. Enjoy retirement and thank you for everything. Spellman was blessed to have a teacher as loved and special as you ❤️

Her creative writing class taught all of us not only about writing but about others around you. Ms Marble made you think out of the box. She made a lasting impression on me. I still have most of my writings from her class- all of these years later. Congrats to all the Seniors. Hang onto those marbles and think of your days at Spellman.

Janet Michel

Many Thanks for Many Hats

BY PAUL KELLY

Some people shine in the spotlight; others work behind the scenes to allow the spotlight to shine for the greater good. For 41 years, Ms. Janet Michel, a true unsung hero, has helped Cardinal Spellman sustain, grow, and thrive. Ms. Michel has worn many hats over the years. She will be remembered by graduates in the 1970's as a brilliant and fair Math teacher. She ran her classroom in classic Ms. Michel style – structured and logical, often with a dose of witty humor and above all, always centered on making sure every one of her students "got it".

As the calendar years turned, Ms. Michel stepped up and took on new and innovative roles. Most notably, she became the master schedule builder, putting her organizational skills to work, fitting all the pieces of the complex puzzle together, ensuring that every student got the classes they needed and that every teacher received a just and manageable schedule to fully support their planning and teaching time. Janet has a creative side as well which she put to use as the in-house "event planner", organizing and orchestrating many Spellman events such as Graduation, Grand March, Awards Night, and more.

As technology began to play a more prominent role in school administration, Janet became a self-made computer guru, maximizing limitless possibilities that helped launch Spellman into the 21st century. She researched, studied, and explored on her own and then motivated the faculty and staff to hop on the technology train. She paved the path for the future by initiating Virtual High School courses for our students, online grades, digital scheduling, online forms and homework and improved parent/school communication. Janet was always one-step ahead of the curve and directed Spellman to become cutting-edge with the use of technology.

"Janet is the glue of Spellman. She keeps us all on track and looking good. She is the go-to girl for anything and everything; she is the behind-the-scenes wizard; the brilliant but humble mastermind who made everything run smoothly. She set high standards for herself and for all of us. She will be missed beyond words."- Ms. Susan Davis

In truth, Ms. Michel is much more than a brilliant mind. In many ways, she was the heart and soul of Spellman, a school that she loves dearly. Her endless dedication and pursuit for excellence were always motivated by her deep desire to make Spellman the very best school possible and to provide an experience for the students, teachers, and families that was second to none.

Ms. Janet Michel's significant impact has helped shape the history and future of Cardinal Spellman High School. As we say goodbye, we do so with a grateful heart, for all she has given to Spellman as she leaves a legacy of loyalty, excellence, integrity, brilliance and, above all, LOVE. Thank you, Ms. Michel, and may God bless you always!

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY MAKES BIG IMPACT BEYOND THE WALLS OF SPELLMAN

BY MRS. MIRANDA COLLINS

The great Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. once said, "life's most urgent question is what are you doing for others" and this year the Edmund Campion Chapter of the National Honor Society put that quote into action. Led by officers President Alfred Grzybinski, Vice President Alyssa Grzybinski, Secretary Michael Gorman, Treasurer Lauren Bregoli, Historian Emma Bickford, and Junior Representative Jake Howlett, 62 members helped serve both the immediate Cardinal Spellman community and the broader community throughout Massachusetts. Various opportunities of service take place throughout the academic year, whether it be assuming the role of Big Brother or Sister for the incoming freshman class, to being tour guides at our annual open house, to connecting with alumni through the annual Phone-a-thon. Students who are in National Honor Society consistently step up to the plate when there is a need in the community, not because they have to, but because they want to, and that is indicative when over 90% go beyond the requirement of service hours needed to maintain membership.

In the 2017-2018 academic school year, 1660 hours were completed by the organization. This year the annual Christmas toy drive that is organized by NHS did so in honor of the organization "Coop's Troops" in memory of Cooper Matthew Richards, whose brother Zach Richards is a member of the class of 2021. The generosity from all members of the CSHS community was evident when the growing pile of new toys underneath the Christmas tree outside the main office was seen each morning in December. Less than a month later, NHS oversaw another need, this time in our Brockton community when they sponsored a Winter Clothing Drive to help benefit Church in the Woods Outreach Ministry for the displaced occupants of Brockton's Tent City. Once again, the generosity from the CSHS community was overwhelming as bags and bags of coats, hats, gloves, and other items were brought to the organization.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY OFFICERS

Jake Howlett - President
Kellie Greene - Vice President
Sam Larue - Secretary
Abby Ballard - Treasurer
Hannah Keough - Historian
Savanna Grzybinski - Junior Representative

Thirty-nine members of Spellman's National Honor Society graduated this spring. We wish the best of luck to our leaders who close one chapter and begin another at their respective colleges and universities. We hope the call for service continues to be present in their everyday lives. We are also excited to welcome 25 new members to the organization, in addition to the 29 returning members. Spellman is a place where service is instilled beginning freshman year and continuing throughout the students' Spellman Experience. The members of National Honor Society take the call to service and display it throughout the entire year and we are looking forward to continuing the oversight of these phenomenal young men and women doing Dr. King's work in an ever-changing world.

THE POWER OF A MUSTARD SEED

Spellman's International Mission Trip program in its fifth year

Jason Deramo

Never underestimate the smallness of a simple question. It began because two seniors asked about the possibility of going on a mission trip. Even though it wasn't possible to begin one during their final year, their desire to serve others was fulfilled by helping to begin Spellman's connection with Mustard Seed Community, a nonprofit organization that serves the most vulnerable population in third world countries (Jamaica, Nicaragua, Dominican Republic, Zimbabwe). This past year, 42 missionaries traveled to Kingston & Moneague, Jamaica to serve special needs and disabled residents. Though this was our third time traveling to Jamaica, it was the first time that both Spellman and Mustard Seed had two teams from one organization go and serve those in need there.

In order to make this happen, the foundation over the last five years had to be laid.

It is amazing for me to reflect on the life-changing experiences that occur with this trip. Months of work are put into fundraising, spiritual preparation, and cultural and social development. The students who apply for this trip always have one thing in common: their desire to serve the residents of Mustard Seed, with the hope that they will return home ready and willing to be lifelong servers of those in their local community.

Our primary goal in visiting Jamaica and Nicaragua over these last five years has been a ministry of presence. The children and adults who live there have all been orphaned in some capacity and will most likely never leave their immediate surroundings. Missionaries, like us then, are to bring the world to them. And this is done by just spending time with the residents, holding their hands, coloring a picture, pushing them in their wheelchair, and praying with them during Mass. This past trip, an Olympic-style field day was created to give the residents a chance to play some games with a chance to earn them a medal! It was an amazing sight to see so much "beautiful chaos" – residents and missionaries dancing in one area, while another group is helping a person cross the finish line the fastest in another. Every person had a purpose and a smile on their face.

I've enjoyed watching the obvious growth in the communities we've served. One might expect that we'd serve the same residents every time; however, the reality remains that new residents find themselves at Mustard Seed each year. But to be able to join them in their own homes and playgrounds has been nothing short of a humbling realization that our 'neighbor' has no borders.

Each year, students are in committees to plan all aspects of the trip, and this year they chose a theme to carry with them: "Just Love." No matter what, we are called to love one another, and this calling does not stop when the trip is over. One thing that has been a remarkable result of this trip has been the way the student-missionaries have returned home and continued living that mission of love.

Here is what some of our past missionaries had to say about the lasting impact of their trip

"In today's society, we may hear about the controversial topic of 'volunteer tourism'. Celebrities and people alike are being scolded for ruining the purpose of mission trips by taking selfies and never looking back. I honestly believe that it is what you do after the trip that falls under this category. Soaps, toothpaste, and shoes can only last so long. How do you provide more aid? I was humbled on this trip and realized that I don't need to travel miles away to continue my mission. I looked in my local city where I attended college. It turns out that Syracuse, NY had the 13th worst poverty rate. In winter months, children here did not attend school due to lack of warm clothing. Young girls couldn't go to school on certain weeks because they didn't have female hygiene products. It's real and it's happening in our own country too. It was the perfect opportunity for me to continue my work."

– Dalena Vu, '14

"My trip in 2015 to Nicaragua is something that I will always cherish. The relationships that were formed with the kids, workers, and other missionaries in just a week was unimaginable. There is no amount of work that we could have done to repay for the experience we had. People noticed that I was different when I came home. I was able to spend time with the kids in such meaningful ways, which affected everything about me."

– James Belton, '15

"Heading into my freshman year of college as an education major, I couldn't be more thankful for the experience I had in Jamaica at the Mustard Seed Community. Being able to be in such a different environment with such a diverse community was something that made the transition into the classroom so easy. The nurses and caretakers were beautiful examples of how I should be in the classroom. They loved each child with such an individualistic love. They were able to cater to each of their needs to the best of their ability while still building such a sense of community. I have been able to take this lesson and apply it to the way that I hope to treat my students one day."

– Emma Sexton, '16

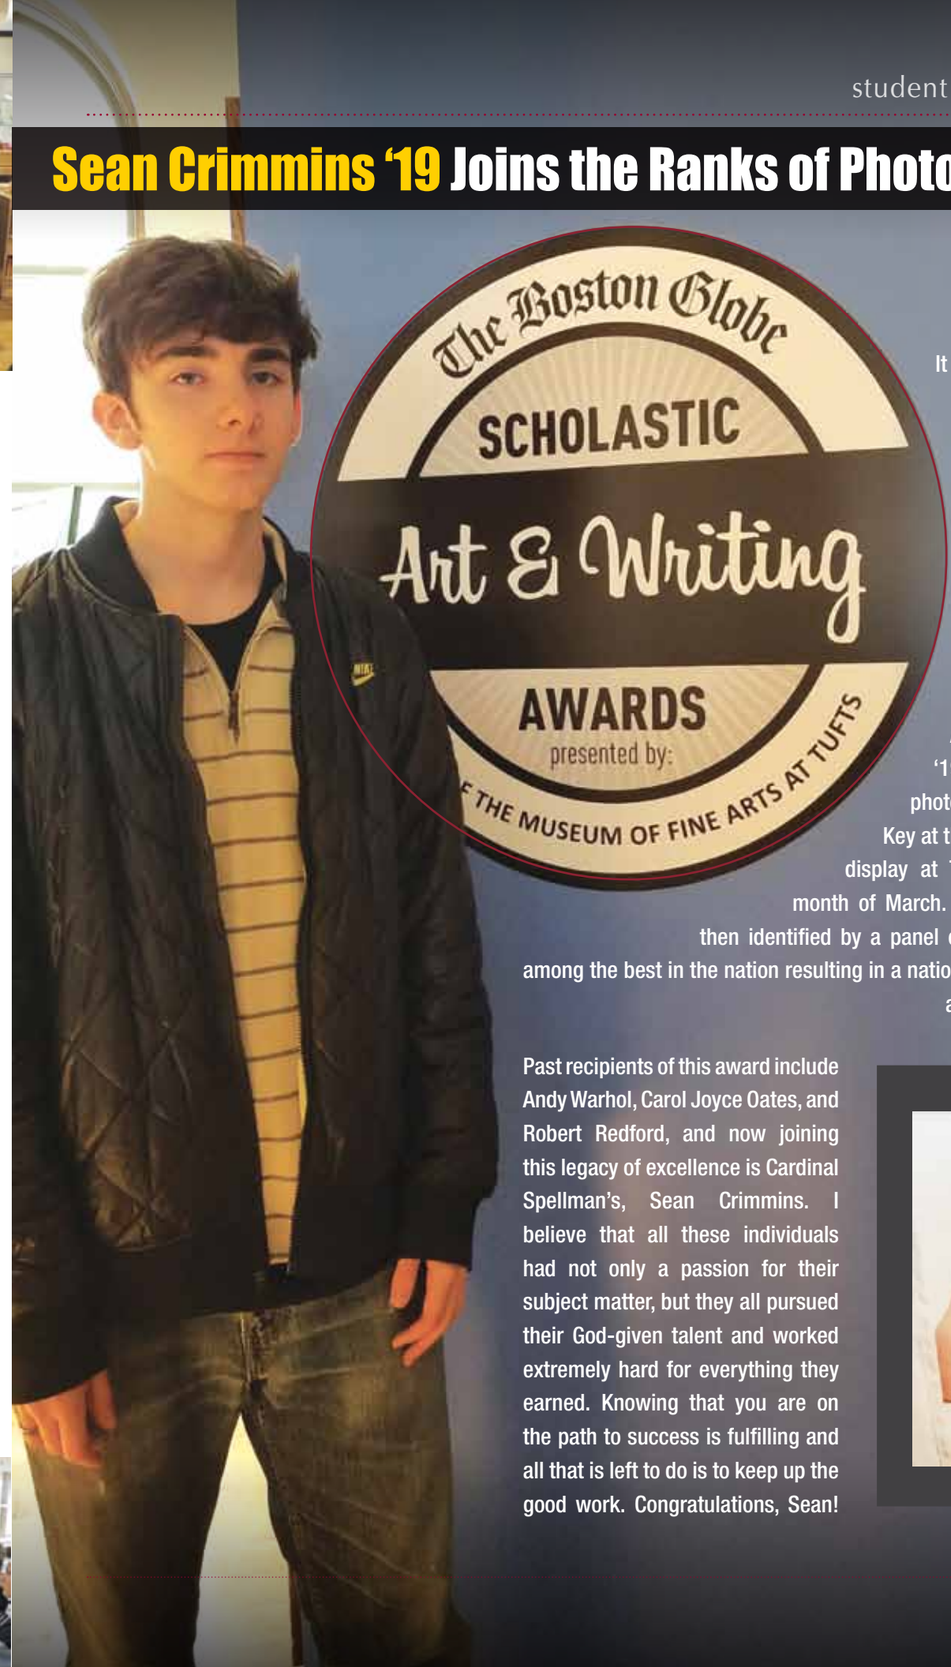
Experience Spellman

- Erika Higgins

There is not a week in the Admissions office that is not spent discussing how to best capture and share Spellman with the outside world. How do you define the unique and vibrant community that exists on Court Street in Brockton? Quite simply, in order to catch the spirit, we believe that students must come to experience Spellman for themselves. Using the tag-line Experience Spellman we welcome prospective students to learn more about Cardinal Spellman. One of the many ways prospective students can learn more about a Spellman education is through a Shadow Day. Spellman's culture radiates throughout campus during a typical school day while prospective students are visiting. These welcoming visits are held throughout the year and are led by Spellman student ambassadors. Through Shadow Days, the Admissions office opens its doors to well over 150 prospective students throughout the year including full eighth grade classes from our neighboring Catholic elementary schools. Visits include observing of a variety of academic classes, a visiting our guidance office and a meet and greet with our athletic director. Following lunch in our cafeteria featuring Mrs. Gangel's famous chocolate chip cookies, guests will spend time with a panel of Spellman students eager to field all of their questions through a Q&A session. In 2015, we piloted an eighth grade retreat program facilitated by Spellman upperclassmen. The program has continued to serve area parishes, religious education programs, and Catholic feeder schools. Our goal was to offer public and private school students a new way to experience Spellman through the witness of our senior ministers and acquaint themselves with faculty and students though a powerful faith experience. Jason Deramo, Director of Campus Ministry, facilitates the retreats and oversees the Spellman students who will work with the eighth graders. According to Mr. Deramo, juniors and seniors who are active in their faith life at their own parishes or at Spellman are brought together to relate and witness to the eighth graders. Their witnesses, often about the transition from middle to high school or how Spellman has influenced them, strike a chord with the eighth graders. The retreat days expose prospective students to the faith-driven community that our theology department has established on campus, and invites our guests to laugh, sing, play, and pray alongside some of Spellman's finest upperclassmen and theology teachers.

Shadow Days and retreats are just two ways the admissions department welcomes prospective students. Interested families have an open invitation to celebrate Mass with us, attend our Open House and see the spring musical and sporting events. Plenty of Spellman swag is also gifted to our guests upon leaving Court Street for the day. In a school-wide effort, we open our doors and classrooms so that all of our guests have an opportunity to catch the spirit and EXPERIENCE SPELLMAN.

Sean Crimmins '19 Joins the Ranks of Photography Greats



By Mark Lynott

It is amazing as a teacher when you see a hardworking and talented student receive the recognition he or she deserves, but it's rare when that recognition is on a national level. This year from the 350,000 works of art and writing that were submitted to Scholastic Art and Writing Awards, Sean Crimmins '19, was in the top 1%. His photography was awarded a Gold Key at the regional level and was on display at Tufts University during the month of March. The same photograph was then identified by a panel of creative professionals as among the best in the nation resulting in a national Silver Medal and a show at Carnegie Hall in New York.

Past recipients of this award include Andy Warhol, Carol Joyce Oates, and Robert Redford, and now joining this legacy of excellence is Cardinal Spellman's, Sean Crimmins. I believe that all these individuals had not only a passion for their subject matter, but they all pursued their God-given talent and worked extremely hard for everything they earned. Knowing that you are on the path to success is fulfilling and all that is left to do is to keep up the good work. Congratulations, Sean!

LAUREN BARTHELMES TAKES FIRST STEPS TOWARD PROMISING MUSIC CAREER

FIRST STEPS, EP - TIM GANNON

A few weeks before the end of her junior year, Lauren Barthelmes '18 came to me with a request: advise her in an official capacity for her independent study. The project? To create an extended play (EP) album of Cardinal Spellman students performing cover songs that would showcase the known and hidden talent of the school. "Sure thing, no problem," I said. "Sounds fun." I could not have been more right. We had the time of our lives.

*Though starting as an album, we soon discovered there were far greater possibilities for this independent study. Over the course of the year, the project grew into a product in which Lauren did not just record and edit an EP, but also marketed the album by filming a promo video, and a music video. While the album consists of some well-known and favorite Spellman musicians, Lauren was able to amass some of the school's hidden talent, all contributing either their voices, instruments or even their artistic abilities for the album cover with a fervor and enthusiasm we could not have predicted. When asked about these connections made with the people involved in the project, Lauren responded by saying "I've gotten to know so many more people outside of my friends, who are pretty talented themselves but to uncover all the hidden talent in so many other students was amazing to be a part of. Music doesn't tell you what to feel, it just lets you feel it, and I think that's what brings people together."

In completion, Lauren coordinated, recorded and edited an album of five songs (while performing some tracks herself), conceptualized and recorded a music video (with the assistance of Charlie Norton '19) for the song "Glorious" (by Macklemore) in which students, faculty, and staff joined in the fun, and then analyzed the downloads for market research and development. As it stands currently, the album has over 5,000 listens and the music video has been viewed over 1,200 times. As Lauren said amusingly in response, "I'd call that a success."

The music video was entered into the Give Me Five Rhode Island Youth Film Festival, where it was selected to premiere as the festival kick off video. Charlie Norton accepted the award on behalf of he and Lauren and answered a series of questions about the filmmaking process by a panel of professional filmmakers.

Lauren had a passion for music and the industry long before this undertaking. Her career goal (to which she is attending Belmont University in Tennessee to achieve) is to become a music producer, responsible for finding, gaining, and marketing new and exciting talent. Lauren, during her year-long project, did just that. In her genius and creativity, Lauren allowed Cardinal Spellman to assist her in achieving a pathway to her dream. That is the real beauty of Cardinal Spellman High School: it supports its students in whatever capacity it can to make sure they succeed.

SPELLMAN'S OWN OUTSTANDING TEEN

By Shay Sinnott

Carly Fisher, Class of 2019, began her Miracle Making journey a year ago when she was crowned Miss Boston's Outstanding Teen and then continued when she advanced to Miss Massachusetts' Outstanding Teen 2017.

The Miss America Organization is responsible for the national scholarship pageant that aims to "promote scholastic achievement, creative accomplishment, healthy living and community involvement for America's teens." As the Massachusetts Teen titleholder, Carly Fisher spent the past year making appearances throughout the state, competing in the National pageant in Florida, and committing herself to serve the community with charity work through Boston Children's Hospital. The call to serve those in need came naturally to Carly, and her hard work and dedication proved to be impactful as she was named Miracle Maker of the Year by the Miss America Organization.

Carly's service efforts ranged from speaking to elementary school children about kindness, supporting the Play Brigade 5K Race, attending the Boston Marathon Jimmy Fund Walk to support the Dana Farber Cancer Institute, and countless fundraising efforts to raise money for the Children's Miracle Network, including a trivia night. With the support of Carly's family, friends, Spellman community and The Miss America Organization, Carly was able to raise $21,900 for the Children's Miracle Network. Out of the 51 contestants represented by each state, Carly was the top fundraiser, earning her the incredible title of National Miracle Maker 2017.

One of the highlights of Carly's past year was at the 2018 Miss Boston pageant, where Carly would help crown the next Miss Boston's Outstanding Teen and Miss Boston. What she may not have been prepared for was the emotional recognition Boston Children's Hospital gave her on stage. To show the direct impact Carly had on so many children this year, Carly was surprised on stage by special guest, Kailyn. Kailyn has been a cardiac patient at Boston Children's Hospital since she was born, just 5 years ago. During one of Carly's visits to Children's, she spent time with Kailyn, sharing one of their passions--painting. Kailyn, who had not stood on her own in weeks, stood proudly on the stage during the Miss Boston pageant to thank Carly for being such a caring role model to all of the children. Carly shared this special moment with her by giving Kailyn her own crown to match the Miss Massachusetts' Outstanding Teen Crown.

In addition to Carly's constant event commitments to the Miss Massachusetts' Outstanding Teen title, Carly's leadership was remarkably just as present on the Spellman campus. Carly was elected Junior Class President for the 2017-2018 school year, she is a member of the National Honor Society, took part in the Christmas show and last year's production of Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat, and was named an All-Scholastic Volleyball Athlete by the Brockton Enterprise. Carly was also named a Captain for the upcoming 2018 Fall Volleyball season.

Walk raises money for The Jimmy Fund at Dana Farber

"I feel as though Spellman has given me a wider understanding of what service is. One message that has always stuck with me was from Ms. Q's religion class my freshman year. She talked about how sometimes the service someone needs isn't a huge donation of money or material, but instead they simply need another person. Taking the time to sit with someone and be that hand to hold or shoulder to cry on can be more impactful. I was able to take this lesson and use it throughout my year. Yes, I was able to raise $21,900, but what I find more incredible was that I was able to make people going through difficult times crack a smile and feel supported. I am so grateful for the lessons I have learned from my time at Cardinal Spellman because it has changed my outlook on what I believe is one of the most important things in the world, serving others." - Carly Fisher '19

Carly and Harper Oates at the first annual Play Brigade 5K held in Boston last fall. Harper Oates was the inspiration of the Play Brigade which builds all-inclusive playgrounds for people of all abilities.

Cardinal Spellman is proud of Carly Fisher's dedication to making a difference in her school community and in the lives of children in need. Carly is so deserving of both the titles of 2017 Miss Massachusetts' Outstanding Teen and National Miracle Maker. We look forward to watching Carly succeed and utilize all of her God-given talents to positively impact those around her as a student, a role model, a leader, and a miracle maker.

Celebrating 60 YEARS OF EXCELLENCE IN CATHOLIC EDUCATION

In September of 1958 three hundred students were enrolled at Cardinal Spellman High School with Sister M. Vera, CSJ as the founding Principal and a faculty of ten Sisters of Saint Joseph. In the following years, more dedicated sisters, lay men and lay women joined the Spellman staff.

On October 20, 1958, Richard Cardinal Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, officiated at the dedication of Cardinal Spellman High School, blessed its buildings and laid the cornerstone. The school was named in honor of Francis Cardinal Spellman whose birthplace and paternal home was in the adjacent town of Whitman, Massachusetts. From Francis Cardinal Spellman's coat of arms, the motto "Sequere Deum" -- "Follow God" was selected as the school motto -- an assured guide and call to full Catholic living.

Cardinal Spellman High School was originally established to promote a Christian climate wherein the students would be provided with meaningful experiences that would nurture virtue and help them become active Christian consciences in the world. The school offered quality academic programs designed for essential, dynamic and purposeful excellence and geared to the needs and abilities of the students. The program of studies, prepared by the diocesan superintendent of schools, was designed to train the mind, give a wealth of thought, stimulate ideas, cultivate initiative and train leaders. Throughout its entire history to this day, Cardinal Spellman High School has remained true to its founding mission.

2018 marks an important time for Spellman celebrating 60 years of excellence in Catholic education. We seize this opportunity to honor our history with great respect and pride for the foundation set by the Sisters of St Joseph, faculty, administrators, students, parents, and all members of our greater school community who make up the fabric of our institution today. While we honor our past we also celebrate and recognize what we've had to accomplish in recent years in order to position Spellman as a competitive 21st century high school in the Boston market in 2018. Because of our rich history and constant growth, we are Rooted in Tradition, Prepared for our Future, the title of our 2017-2022 Strategic Plan.

In the last sixty years, we have educated thousands of outstanding students from 40 cities, some traveling well over 20 miles, recognizing the unique value of a Spellman education. Our students immerse themselves in Spellman culture and receive an outstanding Catholic college preparatory education. Our students today actively participate in our theater arts program, service trips on a local and international level, and educational travel opportunities to Spain and Germany just to name a few. They compete in 15 sports, and participate in more than 25 clubs and activities.

CARDINAL SPELLMAN HIGH SCHOOL

60TH ANNIVERSARY

And while we celebrate 60 years of excellence in Catholic education with gratitude for the solid foundation built by those who have come before us, we have high aspiration and great optimism for a bright future.

REBRANDING ANNOUNCEMENT

It is imperative that as institutions take these anniversary opportunities to take stock of where they have been and where they are going that they include in their review how they are perceived in the market. This year our marketing team will be rolling out a new look.

In the year ahead, we are premiering several new logos and a style guide. This new marketing campaign will allow Cardinal Spellman to have better consistency in our logos, fonts, and colors. This is extremely important in our brand imaging, and what better time to do it then for the 60th Anniversary!

But do not fret - the traditional "seal" that you all know and love is not going anywhere. The seal use is just being redefined for formal use and will be referred to as "The Presidential Seal." It will continue to be used for all formal events and alumni relations.

Our new Shield ties together the darker red coloring we have used over the years with the brighter and truer "Cardinal Red" look we are moving towards. The cross you see in the shield was inspired by the cross that stands above the Spellman chapel. This cross has become a center point of our marketing materials and we are excited to strengthen our brand recognition by adding the cross to our new logo.

We are also thrilled to share with you our new athletic cardinal. This original design is unique to Spellman and we hope it represents our strong athletic teams and Cardinal pride.

Tracy always dreamed of becoming a police officer. Her goal in life was to make everyone proud and to pave the way for other young women. She was unstoppable! No one could keep Tracy from chasing down her dreams. She worked hard and made history by achieving the honor of becoming the City of Brockton's first female police Sergeant.

To look through the Class of 1993 yearbook, you see a common theme in the notes students wrote under their senior portrait. Each would mention a love for their parents, friends and refer to a party or a fun time had outside of school. Tracy's senior portrait and message were no different, however; once you flipped a few pages to the Senior Superlatives, that's when things got a little more interesting. Tracy was voted "Most Rebellious"!

Pat Marble, who was Tracy's English teacher, remembered the Brockton police supervisor for her persistence and tenacity. "You could never tell Tracy she couldn't do something. If you did, it would make her want it more and work harder for it." Cardinal Spellman High School is so proud of Tracy's lifelong commitment in carrying out our Mission to serving the community, the Church and the world. Tracy has certainly made Spellman and our entire community proud. Thank you, for your service, Sargeant Barbas.

2018 LEGACY GALA

Cardinal Spellman High School Honored Fr. Raeke and The Catholic Schools Foundation at Legacy Gala & Auction 2018.

Spellman's Legacy Gala found itself in the Putnam Club at Gillette Stadium this year featuring guest emcee and auctioneer, Billy Costa of Kiss 108. This year's esteemed honorees were Fr. Joe Raeke, Pastor of the Tri-Parishes of Brockton, and The Catholic Schools Foundation.

Father Joe Raeke, Pastor of the Tri-Parishes of Brockton (Christ the King, Our Lady of Lourdes, and St. Edith Stein) was honored as a recipient of The Peter J. Ambrose Lifetime Achievement Award. This award honors a member of the community who has spent their life in service to others. Spellman bestows this award every year to an honoree who exemplifies the Spellman spirit and has given of themselves in a unique way to the Spellman community. Fr. Raeke has been an integral supporter of Cardinal Spellman and Catholic education in the local Brockton community for many years. Father Raeke's dedication and impact on countless parishes and families makes him the deserving candidate of Cardinal Spellman High School's Peter J. Ambrose Award.

The Catholic Schools Foundation was also honored at the Gala with the Sequere Deum Award. This award pays tribute to individuals and organizations whose dedication and sacrifice have made Cardinal Spellman the prominent school that it is today. Accepting the award on behalf of the foundation was Director of Allocations and Partnerships, Megan Adzima. Over the past 30 years, CSF has distributed more than $100 million in scholarship aid to over 50,000 students in the greater Boston community. Thanks to the generosity and commitment to student success by CSF, the reality of a Catholic education is made possible to those who may otherwise never be able to afford it. Cardinal Spellman is grateful for the support of the Catholic Schools Foundation and was delighted to bestow this honor to the foundation at this year's Legacy Gala.

Save the date for next year's Gala to be held on March 23, 2019 at Gillette Stadium. Back by popular demand, Billy Costa as emcee!

8th annual Mark R. Creedon ROAD RACE

Elizabeth Creedon, Christopher Alty '18, and Andrea Creedon

The 8th annual Mark R. Creedon Road Race took place on Saturday April 7, 2018 at D.W. Field in Brockton. The race honors Mark Creedon '95, who passed away in 2011. Last year's recipient, Christopher Alty '18 was in attendance. Adrian Truong '19 was awarded the Mark Creedon Memorial Scholarship for 2018.

GOLF TOURNAMENT 2018

On June 18, 2018 Spellman's golf tournament was held at the beautiful and prestigious Willowbend Country Club in Mashpee. We are grateful for the outpouring of support shown for this fifth annual tournament held in Memory of Joey Glynn '12.

Joey passed away suddenly just one year after graduating from Cardinal Spellman. He is remembered as an all-star athlete and tremendous student but most notably remembered as a gentle and humble leader who truly lived his faith.

This event brings our community together to raise funds in Joey's memory that directly benefit the students and families that we serve at Cardinal Spellman. Proceeds from this year's tournament will provide tuition assistance to Spellman families in need through the Joey Glynn Memorial Scholarship in addition to covering the cost of new Under Armour uniforms for football, basketball, volleyball, hockey and more!

Congratulations to our tournament winners, Chris Ketchen '89, Jason Ketchen '91, Robert Ketchen, and Richard Manning!

Be sure to save the date for next year's tournament to be held at Willowbend on June 17, 2019!

WAYS TO GIVE AT SPELLMAN

Gifts of any size at Cardinal Spellman High School help us provide a rich intellectual environment where students seize opportunities to advance their studies. An unrestricted gift to Spellman allows us to apply funds to the areas of greatest need and enables us to be opportunistic in our programming. Every donor and every dollar makes a difference.

Spellman embarked on a new area for giving last year. Planned giving encompasses a variety of philanthropic strategies that can help you provide for Spellman while also advancing your own financial and personal objectives. Every individual who makes a gift to Spellman automatically joins one of our donor groups. In this way, we recognize and show our deep appreciation for your gift. If you would like to speak to someone at Spellman about our different vehicles for giving, please contact Joanna McCarthy, Director of Development at 508-521-1836 or jmccarthy@spellman.com.

Fund for Spellman

The Fund for Spellman raises unrestricted dollars that directly support Spellman's operating budget. The critically important unrestricted funds are used in:

Meeting current operating expenses

Maintaining the physical plant

Enhancing student programs and services

Major Gifts:

Major Gift donations are significant in funding capital improvement projects to the facility and establishing new academic, extra-curricular or athletic programs. Naming opportunities are available.

Planned Giving:

The Spellman Heritage Society has been established to honor those who have included Spellman in their estate planning. The future of Cardinal Spellman High School can be significantly enhanced by alumni, parents and friends who choose to include Spellman in their will or trust. Such gifts can cost the donor nothing during their lifetime and can have a lasting legacy at Spellman. We welcome you to join the Spellman Heritage Society.

Establishing a Scholarship

A scholarship gift would support a current Spellman student whose family finances are acutely in need of support. Ideally, you would pay the student's full tuition for four years, however; you could opt for 75%, 50% or 25% of the four-year total for a percentage less than the four-year cost. The 2018-2019 tuition rate is $14,250.

HELLO FRIENDS OF MINE. Here is my two cents worth for now. I think I will start off with two "thank yous". One of you has sent me flowers, my good friend since September 1958. And second let me thank you, Dick Coughlin and Joanne for taking me to lunch. Let's do that again on my dime next time. I really want to see your pictures of England, too. Here I am living vicariously through my friends and their trips. The grapevine told me that John Holmgren is sporting a new ticker. Thank you, GOD. Additionally I learned that Lulu Danahy Staley is feeling much better too. On another subject, Debbie Robbins has returned to Massachusetts from Italy. What a wonderful opportunity. She spends the winter on the east coast of Florida but right now she is here for two or three months to see family and friends. I haven't heard from Beverly Dashner lately. I hope all is ok with you and yours. Meanwhile I organized a flea market at my house at Belair Street in the community room. It went well. I ran the Creedon Memorial Walk/Run. I walked 2.2 miles with Jake Creedon and Mark Lawton, and I finished thanks to these two. I saw Dave and Rita Maynard at church recently. He organizes a Golf Day for charity relating to his family. If you want to know more about the date, etc. call him or call me and I can possibly get you his number or email. Eddie Giardino and Jim Burke will want to know about my analysis of the servicemen of our class which is ongoing. Still working on it. If any of you know someone I haven't included call or write me: momkelley56@comcast.net. News received from the Spellman Alumni office: Bob Doherty is living in Nova Scotia. He has four children and five grandchildren. He is retired after twenty-six years in N.S. Government but still working, teaching, and doing volunteer work particularly with refugees. Kathleen White Gillespie is continuing her world travels with a visit to countries in Eastern Europe and hoping to meet up with the Randolph crew during her visit to Massachusetts in late summer. Phil Hughes is looking forward to our 60th Anniversary in four years time and he plans on moving to Ottawa to be near his daughter and granddaughter this year.

We have four published authors from our class that I would like to celebrate. John and Margy McEwan collaborated on EVERY DAY'S A GIFT-A COUPLE'S CANCER JOURNEY-detailing their five-year battle with John's melanoma and the five subsequent years since his passing. The book was published on John's five-year anniversary. It was written to help other patients, caregivers, and medical personnel through their own journeys with the disease. It is heart-felt and full-hearted. Joe McPherson wrote a forty-six sonnet sequence on the founding of Maryland titled THE ARK AND THE DOVE, his love of history, language, and teaching shine through every page. Sue Sergi Barley writes a blog called SUE'S LIFE THROUGH THE LENS, which features her photographs and various thoughts on her life in all its colors. It is written in a conversational style, which makes it easily relatable. The books can be accessed through Amazon. Sue's blog can be accessed through Google, Facebook or Twitter, Bob Walsh has been extremely kind by sending cheerful postcards from Germany and or P-town describing his adventures gastronomic, travel and otherwise-much appreciated. Bob Roffinoli emailed me some time ago asking if there were any pictures of the 50th reunion since he couldn't attend. I directed him to the CSHS 1966 page. I hope that satisfied. See you next time!

Greetings Class of '75! I was so happy to receive some updates from fellow class members. I volunteered at the Joey Glynn Golf Tournament at Willowbend in June and had the pleasure of catching up with Matt Glynn, Tim Stearns and Barry Cosgrove. Jeanne Faherty Armocida recently became Vice President of Development at The Home for Little Wanderers. Jeanne, Caren Hawes Rempelakis, Terri Tobin Young, Carol Dolan, Peggy Sheehan and I had a lovely afternoon at Nashoba Winery in Bolton. After the wine tasting and tour, we enjoyed a wonderful farm-to-table lunch. Denise Cloutier Souliere and her husband Donald were cast as extras in the Hallmark Channel Movie "Love at Sea" while they were on a cruise. Denise has been working at Keypoint Intelligence for the last 5 years. Maryellen Damiano checked in with an update as well. She continues to do music ministry at several churches in Metrowest MA. Her son graduated from UMass Lowell and is working in the music industry in Nashville. Maryellen continues to work in homecare as an RN. Finally, I will be moving back to my hometown of Abington at the end of the summer. It will be nice to be close to family, friends and the ocean after 35 years away. Editor's note: Our thoughts and prayers go out to Eileen Murphy Krouse. Eileen lost her husband, Bill, in April 2018. The alumni office heard from Gerard Cox.

Robert Reid has now been operating the Organic Garden Café of Beverly for almost 18 years. This winter solstice will mark the 18th anniversary. Bob and his family made the transition to a super healthy and vegetarian diet in 1994 when a loved one was diagnosed with terminal cancer. After much research, he felt the calling to share his rejuvenating cuisine with others. The restaurant's concept evolved to include gourmet raw foods, vegan and macrobiotic cuisine along with an extensive wrap & bowl menu and full juice and smoothie bar. Surviving New England winters was no easy challenge in the early years but the café now thrives year-round. The café has been featured numerous times in all of the major publications in the greater Boston Area along with the likes of Time, Newsweek & the Christian Science Monitor. Chronicle has featured the café twice, most recently on February 3rd, 2017 for a feature entitled 'Tom Brady Approved Superbowl Snacks'. For this feature the café pulled all the stops on fun and healthy TB12 Brady inspired foods and served them to celebrated Beverly H.S. Football Coach Andrew Morency and the captains of the Team. Bob also attributes some of his longevity to his Spellman education, and the accounting background he gained at Bentley and while working in the Financial District in the 90's as a Tax Manager for a leasing company. While running a restaurant is a mighty challenge, navigating the numbers was definitely part of the formula for his success. The cafe has a cheery, hip, California bistro-style atmosphere with great local art that fits its sustainable operation and super health conscious vibe! There are yellow & pumpkin walls, gold ceilings and indigo trim with custom murals of farmers sowing and harvesting. This along with a few permanent 'Faces of Buddha' paintings provide the foundation for this eclectic, electric, spirit lifting and vibrant feel! Customers LOVE the vibe and selfies no doubt abound here at the OG Café.

Class 1987 Reunion

The Class of 1987 celebrated their 30th reunion at the Point Independence Yacht Club last fall with 65 people in attendance. Lots of shared memories, updates on our busy lives, many laughs and a healthy dose of 80s rock (thank you Rob DiFazio) made the evening a great success! Looking forward to our 35th, though rumor is we may have a mid-reunion gathering to celebrate our upcoming 50th birthdays. If you happen to be listening to the police scanner for Avon, Massachusetts, you may recognize the voice of Marc Colocousis, who is now a per diem 911 dispatcher for the town. And if you find yourself in Sandwich, stop into Armani, an Italian restaurant where you may catch Sue Valatkevicz-Kiefer working a shift. Sue is there when she is not selling homes for RE/MAX Spectrum (South Shore, South Coast and Cape Cod), shuttling her 4-sport son Jeremy to practices and games or trying to keep up with her 13 year old daughter's social life. Ms. Susan Bailey was a beloved member of the Spellman family as a 1969 alum, a 36-year history teacher, a mentor, and a friend before her passing in 2016. Most notably, Ms. Bailey loved her green car, the Celtics, and her students.

The senior class gifts of 2016, 2017, and 2018 would like to honor Ms. Bailey with her newly painted parking spot to commemorate her permanent place here at Spellman.

We miss you, Ms. Bailey!

CARDINAL SPELLMAN HIGH SCHOOL LEGACY GALA & AUCTION RECAP

Spellman's 2018 Legacy Gala was one of the most successful fundraising events in Spellman history, raising more than $150,000!

This year we honored Fr. Joseph Raeke and The Catholic Schools Foundation at Gillette Stadium. Billy Costa of KISS108 emceed the event and as auctioneer helped us to generate record bidding! We are pleased to report that we doubled profits in both the silent and live auctions over last year.

None of this would have been possible without the generosity of our alumni, parents, faculty, and Spellman friends.

It was wonderful to welcome so many friends of Cardinal Spellman at Willowbend in Mashpee for the fifth annual Cardinal Spellman tournament in memory of Joey Glynn '12. Great weather and a beautiful course set the stage for a fantastic day!
